FINE EXHIBITION OF PUPILS' WORK

Many Useful Articles Made At Public Schools, Shown — Teachers And Pupils Highly Commended — Nearly Three Hundred Visit Exhibition.

On Wednesday evening last, the two public schools of Grimsby were the scene of a noteworthy exhibition of practical work by the pupils to which the parents and friends were invited. The object was to give the parents an opportunity to meet the teachers and to see the rooms in which their children worked.

About two hundred and fifty adults took advantage of the opportunity to visit the schools and on all sides expressions of commendation were heard. Too much praise cannot be given to the teachers for the many hours of extra time and effort spent in making the evening a pronounced success.

Each pupil cleaned his or her desk and placed some work on it. Black boards and walls were covered with drawings and paintings with the names of the pupil attached. On tables were placed fancy work and articles from the manual training classes, some of which would have been a credit to an adult. Articles shown consisted of pillow covers, drawn work, towels, aprons, bird houses, bat stands, lamps and many other things of a useful nature.

Tea and a light lunch were served in the Domestic Science room and the occasion proved an enjoyable and happy one in every respect.

ADVOCATES RESTORATION OF GRIMSBY BEACON FOR KING'S JUBILEE

To the Editor of the Independent, Grimsby, Ontario.

My dear Sir:
Tradition does not tell us when men first piled fuel on a hill-top and set it alight to warn his neighbours of danger. Beacons ringed the British Isles from early ages. Probably they routed the Britons to resist the Romans; certainly they called the Saxons to arms to repel the Danes, and all Englishmen to resist the Normans, Spaniards and French in turn. British history, romance and poetry enshrine the beacon in a thousand settings and many a place-name perpetuates the location of an ancient lake-fire.

In Canada, too, we have had our alarm-fires. Before the war of 1812-14 broke out, Brock established chains of beacons on the Niagara river and inland along the brow of the Heights to Burlington. Probably the first use of these was to call the men of Lincoln to arms on that dark October morning when Brock led his last forlorn hope and met death and undying fame.

The locations of only a few of these old beacons are now known, but it is established that the mountain "peak" at Grimsby was one of them. How often the flame on that bold crest flashed its warning across inland and lake we do not know, but it is recorded that in the troubled days of 1837-38 a beacon was again erected there.

In these days of renewed interest in everything that goes to make up our historic background, and of anxious preservation of all our ancient landmarks, what could be more inspiring than the restoration of Grimsby beacons? What memories and tales would be set alight by the flame on that historic point? What low-dormant traditions might be revived among the descendants of the Loyalists and pioneers of the Niagara peninsula?

Here is something for the historian-minded to take up—women's institutes, service clubs, boy scouts, or who will? Grimsby beacons restored, to flame anew at the King's silver jubilee and thereafter on the nights of chosen anniversaries and commemorative days, would be unique among the historic landmarks of Canada.

Another encouragement to Hamilton builders and to industrial Hamiltonians as a whole came when it was learned that the Dominion Glass company, located at the foot of Chapple street, contemplates an addition to its factory which will cost in the neighbourhood of $125,000.

Town Relief To Be Discontinued Saturday Officer Completes Term

Town relief which has been administered here during the past four months will be discontinued the end of the week when it is anticipated that the work on the Lakes Boulevard and Maple Avenue in connection with which relief labor is being utilized will be about completed. Following this work work which remains will be taken care of by the regular town staff of workmen. Up to Saturday two-thirds of the labor cost on town projects is being taken care of by the Provincial and Dominion Governments and the balance by the municipality.

Relief Officer E. S. Johnson who was engaged for a period of four months vacated the office on Monday, when he concluded his term of office.

During that period a large amount has been disbursed in relief. Relief costs have been doubled during the present year in comparison with the same period in 1934.

The Week In Ottawa

By F. E.

Ottawa. — For a brief period in the House of Commons last week Mr. George Spofford, the Conservative member for Huron North and Mr. Frank Boyce (Cons., Middlesex East), extended their fellowships to the government for the enactment of the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act. That piece of legislation is considered one of the finest passed by the present government. Farmers are looking upon it as a boon to their industry; adjustments with creditors already have been made and many requests have reached the government from Ontario tillers of the soil for detailed information regarding the measure.

This is what has happened to many a farmer. He is bowed down with a first mortgage of $3,000 with $300 accumulated interest, and is paying six and a half per cent. He has a second mortgage of $1,000 with $100 accumulated interest and is paying six per cent. on it. Each year he has to pay $161 interest.

This farmer can go to the government, or, in other words, do business under the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act. This would happen; his $5,000 mortgage would be reduced to $2,000 and he gets that for five years at three per cent. The $1,000 mortgage would be cut to $1,000 and he gets that for ten years at two per cent. so that instead of having an interest burden of $471, which as farmer can bear, he goes home happy making a new start in life with an interest charge of $174.

The Rhodes budget was finally ratified by a vote of 99 to 74 last week, in face of two Opposition amendments which were beaten back by substantial votes in the divisions. One of the amendments was put forth by the Liberals, calling for an immediate election. Five U.P.A. and one Progressive member lined up with the government to second this motion under by 104 to 72.

Col. Arthur, member for Parry Sound, told the Liberals they were all wrong when they said tariffs would raise the price to the consumer. They hadn't. Victor Fortune, of Grey, among other things, said a lot of the unemployed were living under better conditions than the people supporting them, while J. P. White, of London, went elaborately into the implement question to show that prices are lower than in 1930.

Acting Premier Sir George Perley announced that Mr. Bennett had been able to leave his bed on Thursday for a short time and walk around his room. It is not anticipated that the Prime Minister will be back in the House before the Easter recess which is scheduled to begin about April 18. He probably will not appear before he returns from England where he will attend the King's silver jubilee anniversary celebration.

There is enough proposed legislation yet untouched to keep the House busy many weeks yet and more seems little or no doubt that the election will come before the Fall.

Appointment of Mr. Lou Golden, Toronto barrister, as general secretary of the Conservative Dominion Organization, was made on Tuesday last by J. Earl Lawson, K.C., M.P., Dominion organizer.

Canada's New Governor-General

John Buchan, prominent British novelist and writer, and member of Parliament has been appointed next Governor-General of Canada. It was announced recently by Sir George Perley, Acting Prime Minister. He succeeds the Earl of Bessborough, whose term of office expires next Fall. Official publication of the appointment was simultaneous in London and Ottawa.

"His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve the appointment of Mr. John Buchan, Companion of Honor, member of Parliament, as Governor-General of Canada upon the retirement in the fall of this year of His Excellency, the Earl of Bessborough.

Mr. Buchan has had a distinguished career. Educated in Glasgow University and Brasenose College, Oxford, he was admitted to the English Bar as a member of the Middle Temple. He acted for two years, 1901-3, as private secretary to Lord Milner, then High Commissioner for South Africa. He saw service in the Great War, and in the last two years of the conflict, he was director of information under the Prime Minister. He has been a member of the House of Commons since 1927, representing the Scottish Universities.

Buchan now lives at Elsfield Manor, Oxford. His recreations are sailing, deer-stalking and mountaineering so that if he becomes governor-general he may be expected to be equally at home in the mountains and the Rockies.

In 1920 he was one of the signers of the Manifesto which warned Great Britain a national financial crisis was coming. The crisis in the fall of 1925 resulted in formation of a National government and abandonment of the gold standard.

"I am extremely proud to have been chosen as His Majesty's representative in Canada and not less proud to be given a chance of serving Canada," Mr. Buchan said after his selection.

Interviewed at the Westminster Club, Mr. Buchan referred to the fact that he had known Canada for many years and stayed with Viscount Bute of Vimy when the latter was Governor-General a decade ago and had lived in the Maritimes.

"I am looking forward," he said earnestly, "to increasing my Canadian friendships and deepening my knowledge of the Dominion."

Quintuplets and Hauptmann Trial Leading News Stories of Past Year

New York — The birth and daily female lists. Mrs. Dionne was ranked seventh behind Amelia Earhart, Barbara Millicent and others, but ahead of Greta Garbo, Princess Marina and the writing mistress of repetition, Gertrude Stein. Eleventh were the Dionne quintuplets themselves.

Dr. Roy A. Dafee, who ushered the famous little Dionnes into the world, and who still guards their health, was placed eighth in the list of men who made news. The students figured these names were better copy than the little northern doctor.

President Roosevelt, Hitler, Senator Harry Long, Mussolini, Col. Charles Lindbergh, General Hugh Johnson, Father Charles Coughlin, behind Dr. Dafee came Babe Ruth and Stalin.

"I am very certain they will be handled with courage and wisdom.

"I would like to add a personal touch," said Mr. Buchan. "I do not feel that it is going to Canada I am really leaving home, since Canada has been so largely made by my countrymen and been so much inspired by Scottish tradition."

"I am looking forward also to seeing much of that wonderful French-Canadian race, who have produced some of the chief pioneers in the world's history. I found in the war that the old Scottish friendship with France is still a living tradition."

Better Business Trend Displayed

New York — Dan and Bradstreet in its weekly trade review said last week business had entered the second quarter with renewed force.

"Duly by the abundance of statistical information that during the first quarter of the year the trend was consistently upward," the survey stated, "current signs of more activity in some of the laggers are helping to provide momentum for still better progress during the second quarter, in spite of the numerous complications which will be encountered."

Normal School Budget

This Year in $38,890

Toronto—Decrease in the expenditure of four of Ontario's eight Normal schools is provided in estimates tabled in the Provincial Legislature last week. The schools affected are: Peterborough, Stratford, Hamilton and North Bay.

In the case of the other four schools, Toronto, Ottawa, London and University of Ottawa Normal school the estimates make provision for more money than was expended during the fiscal year 1933-34.

Stratford suffers greatest in the maintenance reduction; the government had decided upon for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1934. Maintenance of the school last year cost $42,561 but the estimates provide for expenditure of $38,890. Peterborough's expenditure must be reduced from $30,000 last year to $25,300 in the new fiscal year and North Bay which spent $37,825 in 1933-34 is allotted $36,550. Hamilton's expenditure in 1933-34 was $30,933. For the new year estimates provide $30,750.

Cost of the Toronto school last year was $115,960 and estimated for 1934, compared with $74,029 last year.

London's expenditure in 1933-34 was $41,291 but for the new fiscal year the estimates provide $41,025.

Expenses at the University of Ottawa School were $95,165 in the last fiscal year. Present estimates provide for $96,750.

ONE LESS ON STAFF

The reduction in the estimates for the Stratford Normal School is due chiefly to the abolition of the second-year term for Normal students, Dr. S. Silcox, principal of the Stratford school, explained. When the Normal School estimates were tabled in the Legislature, it was shown that the estimates for the Stratford school had been cut to $38,890. The actual expenditure for the last fiscal year was $42,664.

When the second-year term was abolished, at the commencement of the school year last September, there was a resultant reduction of one in the staff of the Stratford school. The master whose services were no longer required here, was getting a salary of $3,250, so his salary alone was responsible for most of the reduction in the estimates.

BACK TO THE MIDDLE AGES

An enterprising British real estate firm, marking a new residential sub-division in Middlesex, has equipped its new estates with built-in dugouts, guaranteed gas-proof and bomb-proof, and is making quite a point of the matter in its advertising.

"Live here and be safe in time of war," is its sales slogan.

It would be hard to find a grimier bit of testimony to the insecurity of life in the face of modern warfare. Centuries ago people built their houses without windows so that each home could stand a siege. Today we have advanced immensely from the disordered conditions which made architecture necessary.

But if we have to equip our homes with bomb-proof dugouts, where is the gain? Our boasted civilization has simply gone back to conditions of the middle ages. — Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

RABBITS FOR GASOLINE

It is reported from Melbourne that the Minister of Customs of the Commonwealth has strongly supported a plan under which Australia would export millions of frozen rabbits to Russia for consumption as food, in return for which Russia would send several cargoes of gasoline to the Antipodes. — Brockville Recorder.

CANADA

"NO LONG TRIP HOME." Two Stratford lads of seven and eleven, sons went to shoot muskrats and took along the usual 22 rifle. Things went well until in loading the weapon it discharged and the bullet went through the foot of the younger lad.

Then it was that the boy of eleven picked him up and decided to carry him home, and that meant a distance of about a mile and a half. He did not get the smaller lad on his back which would have been easier, but carried him in his arms as one might a child.

How many times he might have had to put his load down in the miles and a half tramp home is not recorded. In view of such a performance and in admiration of such sustained effort one is tempted to forget saying anything about the folly of boys of that age going out hunting with a rifle. — Stratford Standard.

NEIGHBORLINESS.

Neighorliness on the farms is apparently something not confined to any nationality, color or creed. It is the outpouring of human good will and sympathy which is often invaluable to those in distress. We may yet see the day when more of this spirit will spread to the cities as well. — Chatham News.

BUT WILL THEY?

A notoriety asserts that negroes can get along without preying on humans. If he could only convince the negroes. — Eugene Whig-Standard.

GREEN BELT.

The London county council has set aside the sum of $10,000,000 to buy up land so as to preserve for all times a green belt around London, so that no matter how big the metropolitan area grows, nobody will be far away from green fields and flowers. This is a commendable spirit, worthy of the greatest city in the world. London is well supplied with parks and open spaces, far more so, for example, than New York, and the transportation system is so extensive, rapid and cheap that it does not take long to get out into the country. — St. Thomas Times-Journal.

LONG TRIP.

A letter sent from Beause, a small town in Eastern Poland, to Britain in 1922, has just been returned to starting point. During those twelve years the letter went round the world three times. The sender is dead, but his son, to whom the letter was returned, has been offered some 3,000 zlotys, nearly $200, for the envelope. — Montreal Herald.

THE NORTH FOR TWINS

If you want to have twins, the best thing to do is to live in a northern country. This conclusion is reached by the Soviet paper "Sputnik" after an exhaustive study of international birth statistics, which show that climatic conditions apparently form an important factor in the birth of twins. Twins are far more frequent in the North than in the South. In Norway, for example, one out of every 27 births is a case of twins; Sweden comes next with twins once in every 66 births; Germany third with one in every 80. In Brazil and Ceylon twins only occur once in every 200 births. — Back Star.

PERMANENT XMAS TREE.

A thirty-foot Norway pine tree, which will serve as a permanent Christmas tree at Waterloo town hall, was recently moved there and planted. Now there's an idea for you! — Guelph Mercury.

IT'S TRUE!

An enterprising British real estate firm, marking a new residential sub-division in Middlesex, has equipped its new estates with built-in dugouts, guaranteed gas-proof and bomb-proof, and is making quite a point of the matter in its advertising.

"Live here and be safe in time of war," is its sales slogan.

It would be hard to find a grimier bit of testimony to the insecurity of life in the face of modern warfare. Centuries ago people built their houses without windows so that each home could stand a siege. Today we have advanced immensely from the disordered conditions which made architecture necessary.

But if we have to equip our homes with bomb-proof dugouts, where is the gain? Our boasted civilization has simply gone back to conditions of the middle ages. — Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

IT'S TRUE!

"IT'S TRUE!" that the Players' Club, celebrated New York theatrical organization, has sent a formal request to May Robson asking her to will the club her scrapbooks, which literally comprise a history of the American theatre from 1883 until today. Miss Robson plays in "Vivian - Her Love Story", which will soon be at Loew's.

Under the proposal, those millions of frozen rabbits caught by 100,000 young men throughout the country, would be shipped to Russia for consumption as food, in return for which Russia would send several cargoes of gasoline to the Antipodes. — Brockville Recorder.

ST. CATHARINES UNDERTAKING
CANNOT BE CARRIED OUT ON CASH RELIEF PLAN

St. Catharines' proposal to erect an addition to the City Hall, renovate the police station and build a comfort station does not lead itself to the provisions of the Ontario government's cash relief plan, according to a letter received by City Clerk H. H. Smith from Hon. David A. Croll, Minister of Public Welfare.

In the proposal the City Council had planned to use skilled labor on relief to a large degree, but the Minister reports that this class is not sufficient for the rotation plan. A check has shown 283 skilled workmen in the city on relief. The city had also planned to utilize borderline skilled labor assisting these men, who have thus far kept off relief, in the solution of their problems.

The rejection of the present plan by Hon. Mr. Croll will be discussed at a joint meeting of the finance works and special building committees this evening.

SODIUM LAMPS

FOR HIGHWAYS

Use of sodium lamps for highway illumination, similar to those now under test on the Niagara Falls highway near Fruitland, was the one way in which it could be hoped to combat the problem of highway accidents. Samuel G. Hibben, lighting director of the Westinghouse Lamp company, New York city, told members of the Hamilton section, Engineering Institute of Canada, and the Toronto section, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, last night in the auditorium of the Canadian Westinghouse company limited.

Contending that colour lighting to suit individual requirements would mark the future trend of electrical illumination on highways and in factories, office buildings and houses, Mr. Hibben ventured the prediction that with the use of vapour, or "cosmetic" lamps, women would be able to change their make-up merely by the flip of a switch. The possibilities of such lighting, however, were somewhat in the future, he added.

What have I done!

SUPPOSE THIS HAD BEEN YOUR CHILD!

THE number of children killed and injured by automobiles in Ontario is appalling!

Children by nature are carefree. You must think for them, and for other pedestrians, constantly. Be sure your brakes, tires and lights are effective. Drive slowly and be particularly careful wherever there may be children . . . especially on holidays and week-ends. Train yourself so that safe driving becomes second nature to you.

If you don't, some day you may find yourself not only severely penalized but also minus a driver's license . . . for life!

PEARL BELLAIRES

INTRODUCED
Joan Denby, of humble origin, is introduced as a social equal of Miss Georgina La Fontaine, rather than as her secretary. She meets Pierre Hansen, millionaire, who forces his attentions on her.

Joan said nothing; so he tossed it away into the darkness. He had not thought that he would really do it. It brought home to her her helplessness. That he should have done it. It was only a sprig of daffodil but had smelled so sweetly, and she had wanted it—now he simply took it from her and threw it away!

Her helpless rage and exasperation blazed in her eyes.

“No,” he said. “It wasn’t doubt, before. You don’t doubt me now, do you? You know exactly how to take me. And you’re furious!”

The things this man did! Joan felt like crying.

‘ASPIRIN
TRADEMAKED IN CANADA

A joy to all users—plates can't slip or slide—never causes soreness because teeth fit as snugly as natural ones. No one in the world—your dentist knows why—he prescribes it—small cost.

“It’s too bad,” he said. “To torment you. We’ll cry quits. You had the opportunity to give me a most unpleasant character when you had only seen me once, so I thought I would live up to it!”

“You have,” she said.

“I was bored to death in Cannes this morning. But I’m not in the least bored now. My boredom vanished as soon as you stepped aboard the Corsair with Georgina this morning. I said to her—shall I tell you what I said to her?”

“No, please don’t!” said Joan, more disconcerted than ever by his sudden change of tone. “I really don’t want to hear.”

“I told her that you aroused a hope which had long been extinct in me—that there is something in women besides a passion for clothes and admiration.”

“There is nothing unusual in me. I assure you!” said Joan hastily. If he was going to start saying that he admired her, she was only too anxious to cool his interest. “Nothing at all. I wore clothes, I walk in administration! Oh, please, please, Mr. Hansen—take me back to Cannes!”

“Oh, but there was some more of it—I said that you had the most delicious—what? You’re covering them up now. I said that you had the most delicious little ears—all right, I’ll tell you the rest tomorrow.” He laughed as he switched on the head lamps of the car.

Glad that the light on the dashboard was out, for this sort of thing from him made her feel more uncomfortable and rebellious than anything. Joan wrapped the coat more closely about her and sank into it as deeply as possible, hiding herself, ears and all in it, and hating him.

He turned the car round on the narrow road in a fashion which brought her heart into her mouth; they tore away on the descent and now, it seemed to her in time, they were down on the level road again, on the way to Cannes. Had he not been in the car Joan would have enjoyed the speed, the wonderful smooth flight, the roar of the powerful engine with its thundering acceleration.

He sat back casually, driving, and seemed in a good humor.

“That was pleasant drive,” he remarked. “You see, if I only get what I want I’m a little different, are you not?”

“Different? I don’t know,” said Joan, and she asked: “If you had liked me less, would you have behaved worse?”

He roared.

“It depends what you call worse,” he said, as he sobered down.

And he fancied that that settled it. When he pulled up at the herb outside the Hotel Mediterranee, he said:

“Will you be about if I come round tomorrow? Or will you and Georgina come down and lunch on the yacht again? No party this time—just you and I and Georgina.”

“Come in,” said Joan. “Take me up to the hotel.”

He looked at her quizzically.

“Come in! You’ll have to see Georgina in any case, won’t you? We’ll arrange there—I’ll tell you on the terrace,” she said promisingly.

He followed her. At a leisurely pace she led him across the garden and out to the terrace; and there, in the light from the windows, she turned and faced him.

“Well, what about tomorrow?” he asked.

“Now we’re here,” Joan said. “I’ll tell you. There will be no tomorrow! I don’t like you. I don’t like your face. I don’t like anything about you! You took me up into the mountains against my will—I told you that I did not want to go, but you took no notice. You may think it a joke, but I don’t. You have wealth and a position in the world which enables you to do as you like. And you do—regardless of everybody else! You’re a boor and a bully who takes what he wants—a sort of social hold-up man!”

He smiled at her. Then his face became expressionless and as she went on his eyes began to shine. She looked at him scornfully to begin with, but then she had to look away. He was so powerful and so enigmatic, standing there, that even with the hotel windows but a few feet away she was frightened of him.

“You don’t appeal to me, I’m afraid. I’d rather not meet you again! Good night,” she said, and she turned away.

And then, outrageously, he caught her wrist: “No—not yet! Don’t go!”

Raise Price Of Papers

Ottawa — The Ottawa Evening Journal and the Ottawa Evening Citizen have advised their subscribers that prices of their editions will be raised from two to three cents. The newspapers claimed increased expenditures made the step necessary.

SMALLPOX IN CANADA

In the Province of Ontario, 16 cases only of smallpox were reported in 1923. In the Province of Quebec one case was registered, and in the Maritime there were no cases of the disease. In the nine provinces of Canada, according to the statistics of one of the large life insurance companies 100 cases only were reported with 12 deaths.

In order to succeed in practically stamping out smallpox, it was necessary to convince the people that vaccination was the only means of combating the disease.

Smallpox was brought to Canada in 1633 by one of the earlier settlers. It spread with devastating activity among the Indians. Whole villages were wiped out. During the two centuries following the introduction of smallpox the toll among Indians numbered in the hundreds of thousands. Now was the disease checked until after the introduction of vaccination in Jenner in 1798.

In 1792-1793 smallpox struck Quebec city and over 3,000 French inhabitants died in the year.

In 1792-1793, there were 1,500 deaths from smallpox in the City of Quebec. In 1798, more than 500 died from that disease in the City of Quebec.

Since the introduction of vaccine, smallpox has decreased with great rapidity where its use has been of all general.

Between the years 1871-1885 objection to vaccination became widespread in Montreal, and between 1872 and 1889, when vaccination was neglected, there were 4,811 deaths out of a population of 120,000. This is something to be remembered at a time when vaccination is no longer being generally practiced.

WHAT DOES YOUR HANDWRITING REVEAL?

A reader sends in a question relating to Graphology, the science of Character Reading from Handwriting, that is of interest to all those who have followed up these articles.

He says: “Is Graphology based on superstition, or is it absolutely scientific? Is there a reason for everything that you say, in the course of giving a character delineation from handwriting, or is it a sort of pseudoscience, made up of a lot of quackery, some old-time mythologies and a modicum of fact?”

My answer is definitely that Graphology is NO superstition, or a science of mythologies.

On the contrary it is a scientific pursuit, based on foundations that have been proven by research and actual everyday practice. It is not even yet in its final stages. New facts are emerging from continual research that is constantly carried on.

In precisely the same way that medicine is still undergoing research and new findings are made from time to time, in some cases revolutionary, the profession so as it with the practice of graphology.

Fifteen years ago very few people thought that graphology was anyone who thought about it at all disposed of it as a pseudo-science posing as an accurate science, but not to be taken seriously.

Today there are large numbers of people who have found a character analysis something amazing, and very worthwhile, and most people believe in it.

My mailing every day contains one or more letters from people who have found character analysis, based on their handwriting, very helpful to them. Only recently, a lady, writing to comment on the accuracy of an analysis I made for her husband, said, in part: “It seems strange that you warned my husband to be careful lest his impulsive should get him into trouble. He only recently lost a considerable sum of money because he was impulsive, and did not even want to consider whether he was doing a wise thing. In spite of my own instructions to him, he hurried on his way, with the result that he was left worse off. If your advice had been given a little sooner,

LESSON NO. 49

Flowing Rhythmic Patterns
Figs. 167 and 170 illustrate motifs suitable for all over patterns, these are very simple, effective and practical.

In the last lesson we referred to Dominance of Display and Individuality. You can apply this same theory to your pattern designs. Unless your effort has the strength to command attention among your competitors' designs, you cannot get full appreciation for the value of your own work.

Now do not misunderstand. There are many variations of this theory. You might be selling beautiful rugs or some product where "atmosphere" and suggestions to please the senses were quite as important as the merchandising hookup, but this can be done in a way to assist, rather than detract from the Dominance of Design.

In short, no matter what your product or what your advertising mediums are, you must consider more than merely your product and your personal preferences. You must consider advertising competition of all kinds, that might appear competitively. If you are looking for the other fellow—this fellow is not looking for you—the prospective buyer. Correct recognition of this element helps to make the difference between two results and just satisfactory results.

EX. NO. 55

On paper ruled in 16 inch squares make some Rhythmic arrangements of flowing patterns over a surface. Use straight lines, dots, small curves and scrolls, somewhat on the lines of figures 167-170. See that the lines of your design are flowing and connected in movement. Make three different arrangements. Choose one of them and cover with it a surface

Squirrel: Do you don't like the elevator.

A WELCOME HARBINGER

The feathered songsters singing

And joyous bells are ringing.

There's beauty in the sky above,

The bell that tells the advent of The pony ice-cream man?

LAURA WHEELER FINDS THE CROCHETED JACKET USEFUL AND SMART

With crochet such an outstanding feature of our styles today, it is little wonder that the well-dressed woman has adopted the string crocheted jacket. Can't you see on how many occasions through Spring and Summer it will be just the thing to wear? You can do it in a dark color to go with your Spring dresses—in a light color for those pastel ones for Summer and for the dainty ones for evening wear. It can, of course, be done in a lightweight yarn instead of string. The design is a plain and open "ripe"—the stitches are very simple. The collar can be turned down to form lapels if you like. Of course, the raglan sleeve is just the thin, this season.

Pattern 949 comes to you with detailed directions for making the jacket shown; illustrations of it and of all stitches used; material requirements.

Send 20 cents in stamp or coins (coins preferred) for this pattern to Needcraft Department, Wilson Publishing Co., 73 Adelaide St., West, Toronto.

Leaving For Europe Trouble Scene

NATIONAL HEALTH

(Editorial from Toronto Star Weekly, January 11, 1933.)

In the official magazine of the Canadian Social Hygiene Council there are pronouncements upon the national aspects of health by representatives of the various governments. And there is general agreement among them that this should be made a subject of discussion at the next Dominion-Provincial conference in order that the Dominion may assume its proper responsibility. Even Premier Taschereau of Quebec who is guarded in his approval of the surrender of health control to the Dominion, agrees that, with provincial autonomy properly safeguarded, co-operation between federal and provincial authorities is well worth discussing. Hon. John Bracken, premier of Manitoba, declares such a discussion "very desirable."

Hon. G. M. Weir, the Provincial Secretary of British Columbia, asserts that "health is the very cornerstone of national well-being, and hence a matter of national responsibility." Hon. George Horsley, Alberta's Minister of Health, writes that "all must realize the need of concerted action in dealing with some of the great problems common to us all." Saskatchewan's Minister, Hon. J. M. U'rich, points out that the dominion is actually doing less than it did some years ago: "In 1920 the dominion established grants payable to each province, conditional upon the institution by the province of a program for general disease control, but this assistance has now been discontinued. In my opinion consideration should be given to the re-establishment of this grant."

An interesting contribution to the discussion is made by Hon. Dr. J. A. Faulkner, Minister of Health for Ontario. "Health", he continues, "is not an individual matter; it is more than a community matter; it is international, because in these days of modern transportation and rapid communication, the health of any one area is to a very large extent dependent upon health conditions generally throughout the civilized world. For this reason the promotion of health must be regarded as a national activity, to be shared in by all the nations embraced in our modern civilization, each country taking its own part and making its own contribution in the general interests of all."

Dr. Faulkner argues that "no matter what concessions may be made with respect to the legal interpretation of the British North America Act, modern world conditions compel the acceptance of health as a national interest." If an agreement is reached at the next dominion-provincial conference, "we might anticipate that adequate provision would be made for national leadership in all health movements of a national character; for research in public health practice and administrative procedure; for the setting up of standards as a practice, procedure and the training of personnel; for the unification and coordination of health laws and regulations which have both a local and general application; and for central control in all matters of health which have a national aspect."

Certainly the dominion should do more for health than it is doing now; should take an increasing interest and accept an increasing responsibility in this matter, where of late the tendency has been somewhat in the opposite direction.

Eyebrow Plucking May Be Smart But It's Dangerous

Boston — The feminine art of plucking the eyebrows may be smart but it's dangerous, Dr. Paul Gifford, president of the Vermont Optometric Association, warned before the convention of the New England Council of Optometrists.

"Normal brows shade the eyes from glaring sun and serve to catch particles of perspiration which otherwise would reach the eye itself," Dr. Gifford said. Optometrists, he said, agreed women with normal brows generally have better eyes than those who clip their brows.

"Mother sends you a thousand kisses and wants a hundred in return."
"A hundred kisses?"
"Don't be absurd, father; a thousand dollars, of course."

The Week's News of The Surrounding District

BEAMSVILLE

The Canasta "The Crucifixion" was given in Knox United Church on Sunday while in the Baptist Church a dramatic service was held.

There was a good turnout of the local scout contingent last week for the first of the season's hikes.

With the interior decorating and placing of the new equipment only remaining to be done, the newly remodelled store of Hermiston's, on King street, is nearing completion.
The new store with its model front is one of the biggest additions in years on the street.

The winners of the draw staged by the Boy Scouts are: 1st, Charles Shafer, fifteen gallons of gasoline;
2nd, R. Flatter, ten gallons gasoline.
The prizes were donated by Stan's Garage, Beamsville Garage, Richardson's Garage, Seymour's Garage and McColl Frontenac Garage.

John Hesler, Smithville, has bought the property of J. Hesler, King street.

Harry Dougherty, well-known district far buyer, has had tough luck the past few years keeping his skins safe over night from thieves. For the third time he was robbed of $100 worth of furs last week. A window in his barn was pried open and the "inch of skin" brought home that was taken from his car.

The high and vocational school classes of 1935 planted an oak tree and two blue spruce trees on the school campus last Thursday afternoon.

Miss Helen Confort, Reg. N., has been appointed to an important position on the staff of the High at St. Catharines.

A huge quantity of rock slid down the face of the cliff in the rear of the home of Do H. Booth, living in the southwest section of the township last week and if a few thousand more tons appear to be in a loosened condition take a notion as to a dangerous situation may result.

The proprietors of Cherry Blossom Lodge were served with papers on Saturday afternoon when provincial police notified them that their case would be heard on Thursday. A charge of operating the establishment without license came as a result of a raid a few weeks ago.

Keith Delfos, six-year-old son of Rev. A. Delfos, sent reporters scouring for cameras on Saturday by solemnly announcing that Shirley Temple, child screen star, was visiting him. Assuring the press all the way home that his statement was authentic, he qualified before his father and was forced to admit that the actress was only haunting his mind.
He had sent several letters to her, he said, and declared that it had been
"love at first sight".

WINONA

Hydro employees have been taking a census of power users in the district. Besides checking what electrical equipment each household uses, as was done some three years ago, they are also asking a number of more personal questions, such as how old the man of the house is, how many children in the family; if there is a mortgage on the property, and how much. In the majority of cases the questions were answered.

St. John's A.T.P.A. held a service last week in the church when Reginald Towns, past. Dominion president of the A.T.P.A. was the speaker.

Workmen are still busy at the corner of Station road clearing the shrub and trees from around St.
John's church. The corner is now entirely clear and will be a great help to motorists. The church grounds are to be improved by low shrubs.

The Women's association of Fifty church met at the home of Mrs. Van Duzer last week for the monthly meeting. Mrs. Watson, first vice-

FORMER RESIDENT VISITS GRIMSBY

name of name on, handling of United States Fruits and Vegetables. Instead of our Government portal being importation when that time arrives and establishing an embargo they still permits the cars to come forward filling the sidings with everything under the name of Fruits and Vegetables with the result our farmers and fruit growers' mortgages are still piling up, as they are never able to make a dollar. They are being gradually driven off the farms, the banks begin to squeeze and there is no health for us. I wonder how many more years the farmers are going to suffer such hardships, heartbreaks, disappointments and hardship all and for no other reason in God's world only that our members sent to Parliament are incapable of managing the affairs of our country.
I often feel like putting on my long coat and top hat and going down to Ottawa and raising H—P—. For years my heart has cried out for the fruit grower and farmer and I often wonder how many more years has the farmer to be killed, murdered and deprived of an honest living, who is the foundation and back bone of our country."

Centre, Friday, at 2 p.m. Interment was made in the Presbyterian cemetery, Abingdon.

When a chicken rooster in the upper story became overheated, the house of Frank Reznic was threatened by fire last week. Damage was confined to a large hole in the floor.
Neighbours assisted in fighting the flames.

Victor Tofford, who is building a home to replace the one lost by fire last November, had a quantity of his timber stolen.

James Chase received a bad wound in his forehead when an axe he was using flew off the handle and struck him. Dr. Prior dressed the wound.

Neighbours and friends of the Eden church held a social evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. C.
Gregg last week. A programme was given with local talent, Rev. C. A.
Hunt presiding.

James L. Lampman was called to Toronto Wednesday owing to the wedding details of his brother-in-law, Samuel Thompson.

Last week a pleasant surprise was given Mrs. A. Gove on her 60th birthday at the home of her grandchildren, Alfred and Annette Parr, when the family prepared a beautiful supper.
Several neighbours and friends called on Mrs. Gove and extended congratulations and joined with the family in wishing her many more years of health and happiness.

MANAGER BANKS OF LOCAL COMPANY ADDRESSES GAME ASSN. ON "FISHING TACKLE"

"Fishing tackle" was the subject of discussion at the monthly meeting of the St. Catharines and Lincoln County Games and Fish Protective Association, in Moose Hall, on Thursday evening. Mr. Harry Banks, manager of the Horrocks-Liberton Tackle Co., Ormiston, gave the address, bringing with him different types of rods, rods, reels and baits and describing their purpose and how to use them.

To those anglers who anticipate purchasing new tackle this year this gave them splendid information as to the proper tackle to buy for the special type of fishing they enjoy.

The Canadian National Railways sent a motion picture machine and five of their latest pictures which have never been shown in St. Catharines before.

BANK BARN BURNED

Parts of a fire-bug at large have again been raised in the farming district by the destruction of a bank barn on the farm of Mrs. Tina Lynch,
No. 20 Highway, Tuesday night.

Mrs. Lynch, a widow, whose husband died last June, was seriously ill in bed when the alarm was raised by a motorist. Despite her illness she rushed to the barn and assisted in relieving calves and pigs.

Two men had to use force to prevent her entering the barn a third time when it would have meant almost certain death in the flames.
Neighbours and motorists formed a
